

Innovative Ventilation Solutions

Faisal Jassim Group
We bring life to your building

Faisal Jassim Group's Fan division is the leading supplier of air movement and control equipment for all types of commercial, institutional and industrial buildings in applications from comfort ventilation to manufacturing processes.

We represent world renowned brands of Greenheck, Pollrich DLK Factories and Air Vent Technology in offering fans, dampers, louvers, energy recovery and make-up air units, kitchen ventilation hoods as well as many related accessories and services.

We support our stakeholders by providing engineering, selection and sizing of these equipment based on applications and required specifications.

Why Choose Us

- Worldwide leadership in providing cost-effective, value-added solutions for air movement and control challenges.
- Efficient and innovative solutions for all types of air movement and control applications.
- Every product we supply is thoroughly tested and certified to ensure top performance and unparalleled reliability.
- The level of customer service that distinguishes us from our competitors has always been a benchmark.

Our Brands

Greenheck offers a wide range of fan and ventilator products for commercial, institutional, industrial, laboratories and kitchen exhaust installations for supply, recirculate, filtered, process, exhaust, and gravity applications.

Fans are available in either direct drive, where maintenance access is difficult, or belt drive, which allows adjustment of fan speed for system balancing.

The products are AMCA certified and are UL listed for the related applications.

Pollrich provides broad expertise to enable you to make the right selection: Cost-optimised designs – from heavy duty industrial fans for special applications to series of standard ranges - compact, axial, plug and smoke extraction fans.

Pollrich specializes in tunnel ventilation fans and jet fans which are their flagship products.

Air Vent Technology was founded in 1996, in order to provide high quality products to the heating and ventilation market.

All products are designed to the highest standards and offer a wide range of ventilation, heat recovery and air handling systems for domestic applications.
